It will largely determine the amount of money available for the 2023-2024 Scholarship award(s) next year.

2 pieces from the auction tonight - Remember the rock-hound in your life with Christmas coming soon. The first piece is a very nice Selenite Desert Rose Cluster. Similar items like this one can retail for over $100. The second featured piece is a Mexican Onyx pedestal stand. It is about 34" tall and weighs around 50 pounds. The top rotates on a brass bearing. It would make a nice plant stand or a stand to feature your geologic treasures. Similar items like this can retail for several hundred dollars!

7:00 PM Program: Bob Carmein discussing and presenting; Cripple Creek Eye Candy. Most mineral collectors don't think of the Victor-Cripple Creek mining district as a source of aesthetic specimens. But over 120 minerals are known from the area, and some of them are quite attractive—they might even be called "eye candy". Bob has photographed some of the best extant specimens from his own and other collections that illustrate why he thinks of Cripple Creek as more than just a fabulous gold producer.
